

You are invited to attend an Information Systems Operations Management (ISOM) Career Development Event...

Following the success of our "ISOM Speed Networking Event", last semester, we are running the evening again. There are limited industry places available and as such we will be accepting the first 12 industry participants who RSVP.

There will be 30 ISOM (final year) undergraduate and postgraduate students who are majoring in one or more of the below disciplines:

This will be an excellent opportunity for you to find a qualified employee or intern and cut out recruitment costs.

How ICT Speed Networking works?

Prior to the event:

Each industry participant will be required to write and submit a brief about your company. This brief will be circulated to the students and will include information about your company including the industry you are involved in, company values, opportunities for employees and potential internships/positions that may currently be available. This information will be circulated to all the students as they will have the opportunity to select 10 companies they wish to gain interviews with.

On the day:

On arrival, at 5:30pm, you will be seated and given a "speed dating" card which will list all the students present, their majors and their email addresses.

The speed dating will begin and you will be given 2 minute interviews with each student, that has selected your company to have an interview with.

The event will close, at 7:00pm, with informal drinks and nibbles for you to continue discussions with students.
